

HEALING AND SUPPORT THROUGH COMMUNITY

5 May 2022

After having a nervous breakdown, life became completely different. The need for medication and the accompanying side effects that's very painful became the norm. It is also a truly tumultuous time for everyone in my family.

However, through this I experienced great love and support from people around me. The love and sacrifice shown by my family and friends move me greatly and brought about healing after the episode. If not for a loving and accepting community, I would not have the courage to step out and seek for healing through prayer on Easter Sunday.

But because of the great Love of Christ shown through everyone around me, I was able to step out in faith and step forward to be prayed for.

Ever since that Easter Sunday healing service my condition have improved vastly, and God is continuing to heal me through times when I worship Him, read His Word and fellowship with my brothers and sisters in Christ.

All glory and praise to our Lord and saviour Jesus Christ.
